Summary

We worked on and completed page mock-ups. The challenge we faced was the fact that we could no longer subscribe to Moqups service and had to use a free account which has a limited number of total peaceable objects available (i.e. different shapes, text, etc.). As a result our mock-ups ended up being somewhat simplistic and looking more like wireframe than a complete page.

We have also worked on pseudo-code for various pages and actions as well as database design. As a result - we were able to complete design and create a functional database ahead of schedule.
